Barbara Freeman Bio:

Barbara was an award-winning journalist for a Maine newspaper for 8 years and edited the arts and entertainment sections. Then, before moving to Sanibel year-round, she spent 15 years at Coastal Maine Botanical Gardens, where she was director of communications. She's written 3 books, as well as countless newspaper articles, newsletters, and magazine pieces. In 2019, she joined the staff of BIG ARTS, where her work includes editing a variety of materials. Barbara has lived in most of the states in the Northeastern U.S. and graduated from Boston University, where she majored in English. In the fall of 2022, she moved from Sanibel to Iona.
